Joshua P. Starr, Ed.D., Superintendent of Schools

January 14, 2010

To the Stamford Public Schools Community,

We wanted to pass along some information that Stamford police shared with us today regarding two incidents that were reported in a neighboring community.

Greenwich Police are investigating reports that two students – one 9 years of age and other 17 – were approached earlier this week by an older white male in a white van. The incidents took place in different parts of Greenwich. In both cases, the man asked the students for directions and then told them to get into his van. The students did not comply, ran away, and called police.

Although neither incident took place in Stamford, we wanted to let you know for your awareness and so you can remind your children to report any suspicious activity to a responsible and trusted adult.

Sincerely,

Joshua P. Starr, Ed.D.
Superintendent of Schools
